Equipment which enlarges print material from five to 60 times has been purchased to help the visually impaired.

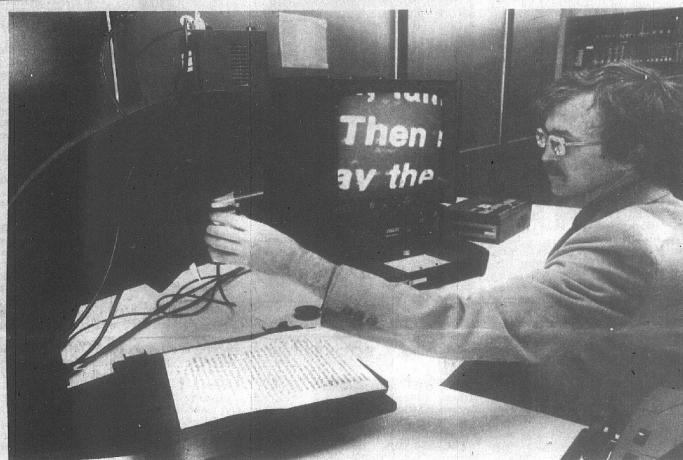

At the right, visually impaired Charles E. Nelson uses the new equipment for persons with limited vision.

According to Donald Smith, education librarian at SIUE's Lovejoy Library, where the equipment is located, the equipment consists of a set of two cameras, a typewriter, a monitor and a microviewer.

"Starting with the microviewer, it will enlarge a typical microfiche (a four by six-inch sheet of film containing up to 98 pages) from 200 to 600 times," Smith explained.

Absences block zoning requests

Absent members and split votes on two zoning issues have resulted in the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals recommending denial of two requests, even though a majority of those present voted in favor of one request and half were in favor of the other.

The zoning board makes recommendations to the Madison County Board, which then rules to grant or deny the requests.

However, the County Board, which will meet Wednesday morning, must have a three-fifths majority vote to overrule the zoning board's recommendation.

Five members of the seven-member board were present at an on-site public hearing Nov. 13 on a petition by Ronald Borowski for a special use permit to keep pet chickens and ducks on his property at 212 Warsaw Lane, Mitchell. After the hearing, three members voted in favor of the request and two voted against.

Under state law, five yes votes are required for a petition to receive the zoning board's endorsement, so the request was officially denied.

Six members of the zoning board attended a public hearing Oct. 4 at 4125 Division St., and voted three to three on a motion to grant Fred Hartline a special use permit to operate a small used car lot and office on the property, which adjoins Pontoon Road. Since

Church fire investigated

An arson investigation is being conducted into the possible fire bombing of the United Spiritualist Church, 3620 Lake Drive, after a major fire at the church at 3 a.m. Friday.

Representatives of the Long Lake Fire Department, Illinois State fire marshal's office and Madison County sheriff's department are conducting the investigation.

When Long Lake firemen were called out at 3 a.m. Friday, tall flames could be seen coming from a picture window in the front.

A spokesman said the window had been broken as though something had been thrown through it. A strong odor of a flammable liquid was reported by the fire department.

Mrs. Lucille Roberts, pastor of the church, said that she had received a previous threat about a fire bombing. She noted a rumor that such an incident was going to happen on Halloween. Mrs. Roberts said she received a phone call on Halloween, from an unknown person, warning her to stay away from the church.

"Some of these teenagers think we are devil worshippers. They think we sacrifice dogs and cats and other nonsense," she told the Press-Record.

"We tried watching the church on

1980s pose multiple problems for SIUE; planning is launched

Planning for the 1980s has been launched at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In a bulletin distributed to the university community, acting President Earl Lazerson announced last week he has directed a number of university officers to head up planning efforts "to aid in the resolution of the many complex issues that will affect the life and purpose of the university."

Lazerson said, "The 1980s will be a critical and challenging decade for the university." He cited "declining enrollments, heightened competition for public and private support funds by various social agencies, increasing costs, shortages of energy, lack of suitable housing and transportation for students, and a host of other considerations" as major challenges to the university. The areas of concern and the officers assigned to direct the planning efforts include:

Transportation — Ria C. Fritters, vice-president for business affairs.
Housing — James R. Buck, executive assistant to the president.

Recruitment and retention — Robert M. Bruker, director of the Office of Admissions and Records.

Institutional development — Dr. Buck and Al Jantz, director of the SIUE Foundation.

Administrative costs — James P. Metcalf, controller and budget director.

School and department overheads — Earl S. Beard, acting vice-president and provost.

Research — Vaughnie J. Lindsay, dean of the Graduate School.
Public service — Dr. Beard.

Planning and affirmative action — Ben Guillian, director of the Central Affirmative Action Office.

Fiscal year 1980-81 budget — The heads of all functional areas, and.

Long-range planning — Jane Altes, assistant vice-president for academic programs.

Urging participation by every member of the university community, Lazerson said, "In all of these actions, involvement of the constituency bodies will be essential. Most directly involved will be the University Planning and Budget Council.

"But the accurate assessment of our problems and the development of workable and feasible solutions will depend largely on the commitment and cooperation of every individual.

"The report on transportation will assess needs from both immediate and future perspectives." It will identify alternative solutions and their relative advantages.

Lazerson said the statement on housing "will apply itself to the full spectrum of housing needs."

HIRING MILLIONS OF PEOPLE TO WORK ON UNITED WAY WOULD NOT BE EFFICIENT.

GETTING THEM TO WORK FOR NOTHING.

The big reason why United Way can do so much for so many is that a lot of big-hearted Americans contribute countless millions of hours every year. Free of charge. Volunteers do everything from collecting money to deciding how it will be used in their local communities. So administrative costs are low, and more can be spent on needed services. And that's how United Way works. And why. Thanks to you, it works. For all of us. United Way.

and will address interrelationships between housing and transportation problems, on and off-campus facilities, alternative methods of internal financing, methods of promoting housing development, facilities in support of continuing education and training programs, and sources of private and governmental funding for housing development.

Goal of the recruitment and retention effort, according to Lazerson, will be "the stabilization of enrollment at a level of approximately 10,000 students." He added, "This plan will examine the possibilities for selective enrollment increases in programs of high academic strength and need, and will proceed within the context of due regard for overall improvements in the academic standards and quality of the university's programs."

In regard to institutional development, the acting president said the purpose of the program will be "to cultivate and successfully solicit support for the university."

The review of administrative costs will focus on "defining and assessing areas where administrative costs can be reduced or eliminated," Lazerson said.

In a related area — school and department overheads — the review will provide recommendations on the "appropriate amounts and levels of such costs and their distribution."

Lazerson said the statement on research activity and funding will "provide a framework within which we may promulgate guidelines on the use of state appropriations for research."

In the area of public service, Lazerson indicated that "recommendations will be made with regard to the types of programs and corresponding resource needs necessary for the university to fulfill its public service responsibility."

The acting president said recommendations regarding affirmative action will recognize that "the university faces a decade in which educational resources promise to be particularly scarce."

A significant part of this effort will be to review and recommend "how faculty and staff development programs and various ongoing student programs can contribute to meeting our affirmative action commitment."

In regard to the budget, university officers are being asked to prepare contingency plans for both two and three percent budget reductions. "Prior planning in this regard will strengthen our position in upcoming budget discussions and will better prepare us to accommodate final recommendations," Lazerson said.

"Efforts are under way to develop greater flexibility in university programs and budgets and to institute a long-range planning process," the president continued.

"Achievements of increased flexibility is mandatory if the university is to be able to meet demands on it during the increasingly competitive times of the next decade."

He said the first step in the long-range planning process will be the establishment of an advisory committee to the president, composed of representatives of the various functional areas of the university and the University Planning and Budget Council and its subcommittees.

"Tasks assigned to this group will include the definition of issues, development of information pertinent to refining such issues, creation of a variety of strategies aimed at the issues, exploration of the interrelationships and priorities among the issues, and the recommendation of mechanisms to implement necessary action," Lazerson concluded.

Hearing

frequently by former employees of the liquor store during the hearing which opened Wednesday, and who was described as manager of the store when his wife was not there, declined to respond to any of a series of questions put to him by Irvin Slate Jr., assistant city attorney.

The hearing involved a citation by Mayor Paul Schuler for revocation or suspension of the J & J Liquor Store license on allegations of sale to minor.

Those allegations grew out of a Nov. 9 incident in which police arrested Brenda Mae Stearns, a store clerk, on a charge of selling a pack of beer to a minor. Later, however, the person who bought the beer was identified as 20 years old, but three youths under drinking age were in the car at the time the purchase was made, police reported.

Wednesday's hearing was recessed because Stephens was not present to testify after four young women, all former clerks at the store, said Stephens had discouraged them from checking identification cards for ages in making liquor sales. All four of the witnesses told Slate under questioning that Stephens told them not to worry about making sales to minors "because he said he had taken care of things and everything was under control."

Stephens appeared at Friday's 9:30 a.m. hearing voluntarily, accompanied by his attorney, Carmen Dursio of Belleville.

As Slate opened the questioning, Dursio explained that he had instructed Stephens not to answer any of the questions as he challenged the relevancy of Stephens' testimony in the case. Slate responded, however, that he intended to ask some specific questions.

Stephens did respond to the question as to his name, but declined to give his address or answer any further questions by Slate.

Slate asked, and received no answer, as to whether Stephens acted as manager or was employed at J & J. Stephens also was asked if he was aware of what the witnesses said at Wednesday's portion of the hearing. Stephens declined to answer.

Slate asked Stephens if he had driven Thursday to the homes of three of the young women who testified on Wednesday, and again Stephens declined to answer.

Slate also questioned Stephens about a gun which Wednesday's witnesses testified was kept under a counter at the store, and which they said Stephens sometimes brought out and displayed. He also asked Stephens if he was a part owner of the store.

He specifically asked the witness if he had at any time made remarks that there was no worry about selling to minors because he had taken care of things.

Stephens declined to answer any of the questions.

The only other witness to be called was Mrs. Sara Stephens, owner and license holder of the store.

Mrs. Stephens was sworn and upon questioning by Slate said she was sole owner of the J & J Liquor Store and that her husband was not employed in any capacity at the store.

Noting that the former clerks who testified Wednesday said Stephens was manager of the store when Mrs. Stephens was not there, Slate asked Mrs. Stephens what Stephens' status was.

"Joe didn't work there in any capacity. He was not a manager, an assistant or an employee. He just went there at times," she said.

Mrs. Stephens said she did all the hiring and she told all employees not to pay any attention to Stephens.

She added that it always has been the policy of the store to question ages whenever it appeared a customer might be a minor.

The hearing ended as Mrs. Stephens' testimony concluded.

Mayor Schuler said he will study the record and will make a ruling in the case within the next five days.

Zoning

there were not five yes votes, the endorsement was denied.

The County Board held the request in abeyance at the October meeting and the issue is to be returned to the board for Wednesday for a vote.

Other zoning board recommendations to be submitted to the County Board Wednesday include a request by Sam Campbell for a special use permit to establish a construction company at 4262 Highway 162, next to the Nameoki Town Hall.

The building formerly was used for an auto body repair shop and Nameoki Township officials indicated they feel Campbell will clean the property and be "a good neighbor," they indicated at the last township meeting.

The zoning board agreed that the permit should be granted, with a provision that materials and equipment related to the business be kept within the fence and most items kept within the building.

Rezoning of about 10 acres along Old Route 66 about three-quarters of a mile from Route 111, in an agricultural district of Chouteau Township, received the endorsement of the zoning board after a hearing on a petition by Everett Demster, who is seeking rezoning from agricultural to a B-4 business district.

Two requests for the placement of mobile homes received the zoning board's endorsement and will be presented to the county board Wednesday.

Carol Duffield and Joyce Powell wish to continue the placement of a double-wide mobile home at 160 Voigt Place, Mitchell, and Jesse and Bernice Thomas are seeking a permit to place a double-wide mobile home at 103 Allen St., Eagle Park Acres.

Both are endorsed with stipulations limiting the permits to five years and to the sole occupancy of the families named at the public hearing.

Halloween, but somehow they got in and it was vandalized. They broke out the windows, threw Holy Bibles all over the floor, and made a real mess.

"We have made reports to the sheriff's department on vandalism."

"We have been here for six years now and we are not about to be driven out. We will just rebuild as often as we have to," Mrs. Roberts said.

No estimate of the damage was made by the fire department. However, the inside of the structure was gutted and some damage was done to the exterior.

Mrs. Roberts said the damage inside will run into thousands of dollars, as the organ which was destroyed was worth $5,000. She added that a new air conditioner and furnace were also destroyed.

Long Lake firemen responded to the first call with 20 men, two pumps and the emergency truck.

The fire rekindled at 6:50 a.m. Friday but was extinguished quickly.

The United Spiritualist Church has 20 regular members and about 10 persons who attend on a regular basis but have not as yet joined, according to the pastor.

Thanksgiving service set

Thanksgiving services will be held on Thanksgiving at 9 a.m. at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair Ave. and Dale. Six Thanksgiving baskets of foods and staples are being prepared for distribution among the needy.

More than 15 more baskets will be prepared between now and Christmas for those in greatest need at Christmastime. Names will be secured from the Salvation Army.

A Thanksgiving table is now set up in front of the church chapel to which church members may bring canned goods and staples for the Christmas baskets.

Conducting services on Thanksgiving Day will be the pastor, the Rev. Samuel Boda, assisted by the congregation's vicar, Donn Wilson. Mrs. June Barton, of St. Louis, will be at the organ.

World Hunger Sunday will be Dec. 2, which will also serve as a congregational Loyalty Sunday.

The congregation has set itself a goal to help relieve the critical situation among Cambodian refugees. This will be over and above that which is being contributed toward the church budget. Funds will be channelled to the needy in Cambodia through Lutheran World Relief.

Challenge multiple layers of taxation

A challenge is believed likely by at least some of the Tri-City Port-area operating companies that Venice Township is proposing to add to its tax rolls.

Affected are Granite City Steel, Triple T, Bulk Service Corp., Apex Oil Co. and I. S. Joseph. Granite City Terminal does not have a specific lease agreement.

At present, 70 percent of the funds paid to the federal government for use of U.S. property is returned to Madison County as a payment in lieu of taxes.

In addition, the firms have paid corporate personal property taxes for their port operations, and this is to be replaced with higher corporate income taxes.

The township plan involves taxation of leaseholds and of physical improvements, in addition to the other taxes and payments mentioned.

Await operations manual on sewers

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency may withhold funds in the near future from the sanitary sewer project in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, until a final operations manual is submitted to the EPA. It was indicated during last week's sewer committee meeting.

John Arnold of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab engineering firm, engineers for the massive sewer program, told the committee that a decision last month to change the method of billing customers for sewage treatment and sewer maintenance will require a change in the operations manual, which was to have been submitted to the EPA when the project was 80 percent complete.

The EPA has been informed the project has surpassed the 80 percent mark. Funding from the grant has continued, but Arnold warned it could be halted temporarily, unless the revised manual is submitted soon. A preliminary draft, without the change in the method of billing households, has been submitted to the EPA for review.

The billing change occurred when numerous township residents objected to paying for sewage treatment and sewer maintenance on the basis of the amount of water each home uses. The committee voted to set a flat fee of $10 per month per household, but that change has not yet been inserted in the manual. Approval of the complete manual is expected sometime in January.

After the final manual is submitted to the EPA, the Madison County Board will be asked to pass an ordinance finalizing the $10 per month user fee.

In other business, the committee decided a service road to a lift station in a field near West Chain of Rocks Road is needed for maintenance purposes and approved a change order totaling $3,252 for the contractor to build the road.

The committee also agreed to ask the EPA for additional grant funds to provide three-phase power for the lift stations.

Appeal filed on funds

Metro-East Sanitary District trustees today filed with the Environmental Protection Agency an appeal of more than $200,000 in emergency funds for help to repair the broken Cahokia sewer line, but with the understanding the money, if allowed, will be distributed to a sponsoring agency other than the sanitary district.

The district does not have its share of money to pay part of the costs of any part of the project EPA might authorize.

Shop where the Shopping is Best

Bank where the Banking is Best

You wouldn't buy eggs in one store, milk in another, and cheese in a third. You'd spend half your day doing that and accomplish little, if anything, in the process. If you're smart about shopping, you would pick a shopping place you can trust and do all of your shopping there.

The same is true about banking. Pick a financial institution you can trust and do all of your banking there. When you do all of your banking in one place, you are an important customer, not an anonymous account number.

Don't buy your banking piece-meal. Shop with a neighbor you can trust... Granite City Bank.

Goal cost unrealistic

BY JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — It would cost the state of Illinois an estimated $56 million to build enough facilities to put 2,000 prison inmates to work in prison industries, as recommended by a special legislative committee.

Howard Skolnik, head of the state Department of Corrections, said he would "love to be able to achieve" the recommended goal of having 2,000 inmates employed within four years.

"What the advisory committee failed to recognize," he said, "is that if we achieved that by building enough facilities to put them all to work, it would cost $40,000 per inmate just for construction costs alone — and that's a minimum figure."

Presently, there are some 600 inmates at work in the corrections industries programs, with about 100 more expected to enter the prison work force by the end of this year.

"Realistically," Skolnik said, "if we go on to achieve gains in the numbers employed, it's going to have to be by expanding our existing programs, probably going to double shifts."

At Pontiac Maximum Security Prison, he said, plans have been made to add a second shift by the first of the year in the prison's metal fabrication plant, which makes steel desks and metal beds. Expanding that program, he said, will require only hiring an additional civilian employee and acquiring two small additional pieces of equipment, keeping the cost minimal.

The special Joint Legislative Advisory Committee on Corrections issued a report to the General Assembly which urged, among other things, that expanding prison industries be given a higher departmental priority, with a four-year goal of having 2,000 inmates employed. Further, the report recommended that the department abandon its position that the prison industries program must be self-supporting. Instead, the advisory group urged, an expanded industries program could "prevent riots, reduce violence and provide opportunities for good work habits" which they said would justify the program in itself.

Meanwhile, the department has closed down two small industries — the concrete plant in Menard and the dental lab at Pontiac, and transferred a graphics arts program at Joliet Correctional Center to the department's own school district.

The concrete plant, Skolnik said, was a small operation unable to turn out the longer lengths of pipes most contractors now want, while the dental lab was handicapped by lack of metal casting equipment.

"There were about 14 residents working with one civilian in that lab," Skolnik said, "and the turnover was only about five residents in the last two years so it wasn't a very wide training program. To make it effective for other institutions besides Pontiac would require metal casting equipment which we were told would cost $20,000 to $30,000. Considering the scope of the lab, it would take the department 10 to 20 years to recover the outlay, and we just aren't in that good a financial position."

Department policy presently, Skolnik said, views corrections industries' main objective as helping inmates develop work habits.

"At Stateville (in Joliet), for instance," he said, "our population generally is quite young and many of them have never held a job. We feel our role is developing work experience, not providing vocational training which can be handled better by other agencies."

Department administrators are in the process of reviewing the entire line of products made by prison industries, Skolnik said, to see which should be dropped as non-productive and which should be expanded.

Farming operations are being expanded at the Vandalia Medium Security Prison, he said, and a new timber operation has been started at the Vienna Minimum Security Prison. That program is being developed in cooperation with the Department of Conservation.

Gymnastics class slated

A new four-week gymnastics session will begin Nov. 27 at the Tri-City Area YMCA for youths, age six through high school. The class meets on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4 to 5.

Theresa McFall and Tina Taylor teach the class, which offers instruction in tumbling, parallel bars, balance beam and vault exercises. Cost for the four-week class is $2 for YMCA members and $10 for non-members. To register, Quad-Cityans may stop by or call the "Y" at 876-7200.

New courts for national tennis

An increase in the project budget for new tennis courts at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, proposed plans and specifications for the project, and the award of the contract for the work have been approved by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The budget was increased from $102,300 to $128,000. There has been a 30 percent increase in the cost of asphalt since the original cost estimates were developed in March, and bids received exceeded the initial budget approval.

The board awarded the construction contract to All Weather Courts of Springfield, in the amount of $128,000.

The new courts will be located in the area north of the existing tennis courts adjacent to the Hubbe Gym. University officers expect the project to be completed in time for the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II national men's tennis finals, scheduled at SIUE in the spring.

Murder victim's body found

The body of 25-year-old Joe Willie Williams Jr., St. Louis, was found in the woods between Highway 111 and Horseshoe Lake about 4:30 p.m. Friday and the Madison County Sheriff's Department is investigating the apparent murder. An autopsy conducted yesterday showed Mr. Williams had been shot four times in the head and once in the abdomen. The body was fully clothed and wrapped in a sheet, and was found 92 feet west of Route 111, near the old Hunter's Cove Tavern property.

Fishermen found Mr. Williams without signs of life and contacted the sheriff's department. Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner pronounced him dead at the scene. The wounds appeared to have been made with a high-caliber weapon, authorities said after the autopsy.

Mr. Williams still had his wallet on his person and there were no signs of robbery, authorities said. It has not been determined if the shooting occurred where Mr. Williams was found or if the body was dumped from a vehicle.

3-year-old chokes, dies while visiting

Three-year-old Nicholas Pavlov Jr., 314 Sherwood Drive, Glen Carbon, died after choking while visiting an aunt in Granite City about 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

An autopsy Sunday indicated the boy died from natural causes. Police were told the boy's mother, Mrs. Arline Pavlov, was visiting the child's great-aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Boske, 1642 Poplar St., and they allowed Nicholas and a sister to go into the attached garage to play with Mrs. Boske's dog. Moments later, both children began yelling and the dog began barking. Mrs. Pavlov ran into the garage and returned holding Nicholas, who was screaming and turning blue, it was related. The mother slapped the boy on the back several times, but he lost consciousness, officers were told.

An aunt, Linda Carney, 174 Melvin Drive, Arlington Heights, tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but was unable to get a response.

Authorities were told. The relatives drove him to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, giving him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation enroute, but doctors at the emergency room were unable to revive him, police said. He was pronounced dead at 6:02 p.m. Saturday.

His great-grandparents, Leonard and Helen Lupa of Madison, preceded him in death.

Private family services are to be scheduled at an Edwardsville funeral home. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

Pontoon changes auditors

The Pontoon Beach Village Board has accepted a bid from certified public accountant Nathan C. Stein of Collinsville to complete the audit reports of the village's 1978 and 1979 fiscal year books.

Stein was one of the firms contacted by Trustee Duane Skinner and asked to submit a bid on doing the audits for the two years. Skinner heads the finance committee of the village while his wife serves as village treasurer.

A Press-Record article Oct. 25 revealed that the village had failed to have audit reports prepared since the fiscal year which ended April 30, 1977. In that article, a village resident questioned why Skinner, whose wife is treasurer, should recommend to audit his wife's books.

Skinner said he was negotiating with Stein, and with Terry Bates of the Laventhol and Horwath CPAs firm of St. Louis, asking them to submit proposals to do the audits.

After the article appeared, the village board voted to hire another firm to do the audits immediately. However, that firm later raised its initial offer, village officials said, so Stein was contracted for the work.

In other business, the village asked its attorney, Bob Henessey, to amend the liquor control ordinance, raising the number of liquor licenses which can be granted in the village from five to six. The amendment is to be considered at the board's next meeting and applications then will be accepted.

A total of $25,000 was transferred from the general fund to the motor fuel tax fund to help pay a $31,497 bill for road work.

Complaints about the condition of the roads where sewer installation work has taken place were heard and Skinner said the streets will be asphalted as sewer construction activities are completed.

Board President Paul Bennett said other improvements, such as curbs, are in the plans, but funds are not available at the present time.

HIELD ON WARRANT

Gary R. Vaughn, 24, of 3009 Franklin Ave. was arrested at 4:17 a.m. Saturday by a Madison County Deputy Sheriff on two warrants. Vaughn is being held in lieu of $1,540 bond. The warrants charge him with fleeing and attempting to elude police and failure to appear in court. The charges stem from an incident at the former Upper Level lounge, when Vaughn apparently fled police on a motorcycle.

VACANT HOUSE BURNS

A vacant house at 2117 E. 23rd St. burned at 2:05 a.m. Saturday. Damage was estimated at $4,000 to the building. The owner has not been identified. The fire is believed to have started in a closet. An arson investigation is being conducted, according to a Granite City fire department spokesman.

Charged after hitting posts

Craig A. McCracken, 19, of 4409 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, resisting arrest, reckless driving and illegal transportation of alcohol after his car struck a traffic signal light, two utility posts and a no parking sign at 17th Street and Madison Avenue last week.

An officer nearby said he heard a crash, looked and saw the traffic light swaying. When he arrived at the accident scene, he saw a car with extensive damage to the front, he reported.

The driver was bleeding from a lip, but denied having been in an accident and declined to be taken to the medical center, police alleged. When an officer attempted to arrest the driver, he allegedly pulled away repeatedly until he was handcuffed.

Force was used to put him in the squad car. The car interior was inspected and officers alleged finding open beer in the auto.

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, Nov. 19, 1979—7

Receipt promised for cash bail given officers, deputies

The Illinois Supreme Court decision to revise the procedural rules for posting of bond by traffic offenders is drawing mixed reactions.

The new rules went into effect Nov. 15 and apply only to minor traffic offenses occurring outside Cook County.

State troopers, sheriffs and state Department of Conservation officers now may accept, at the violator's option, a cash bail of up to $50.

Previous rules required that cash bail be deposited in an envelope addressed to the court and placed in a U.S. postal box by the violator and the arresting officer.

That procedure often caused undue hardship on motorists stopped in rural areas far from a town having mail service, the court concluded.

Under Supreme Court rules, traffic offenders may post an Illinois driver license, an approved bail bond card, or $5 cash bail to guarantee their court appearance or the payment of a fine later.

According to State Police Superintendent R. J. Miller, the rules were amended after the state police met with Illinois Supreme Court administrative people.

"I want to stress that our troopers will accept the cash bail only at the violator's option," Miller said. "If the driver wishes to witness the mailing of the court-addressed envelope containing the bond money, the trooper will honor the request and both will travel to the nearest mail box."

Miller stressed that the troopers will personally deliver or mail any tickets issued, including bond money, to the court before the end of their tour of duty.

According to the state police, the arrestee will continue to receive a signed receipt for the cash bail. Providing receipts for posted bond has been the required practice for over 16 years.

"The only real difference in the rule is that now a motorist stopped for a traffic offense will not be detained and required to make an out-of-the-way trip to a post office box to mail the cash bond to the court," Miller said.

DEPARTMENT PROBE

Questions for Madden

SPRINGFIELD — Initial work on a management review of the Registration and Education Department is under way and the person directing it said that Tim Madden of Joliet, who is in the middle of a controversy surrounding the agency, will be questioned.

Arthur Quern, who is the chief of governmental operations for Gov. James R. Thompson, is heading a probe of the department's operations. Thompson ordered Quern to look into the operations after some preliminary information concerning an audit now under way indicated the department might be in chaos.

Madden is the internal auditor of the department. He has been preparing information on the operations of the agency. Madden got into a rift with department Director Joan Anderson over some of the information he was gathering. Apparently, the information related to the fact that some investigations of departmental-related licensing work had been sidetracked with the knowledge of the director.

Madden received a five-day suspension from his job. But he went to court in Chicago and won reinstatement. The reinstatement was granted pending Madden's rights to proceed through the state's grievance system.

With the court's ruling Madden's suspension was lifted. Now if the department still wants to suspend or even dismiss Madden it must go through the Personnel Department, headed by William Boys.

"It is up to the agency to enact the suspension," Boys told Copley News Service.

If the agency intends to discharge an individual, notification must be filed with the Personnel Department and up to now it has not been filed with the department, according to Boys.

Madden can then file a formal appeal to the state management services commission and request a hearing.

"The governor has asked us to make a management review of the operations of the department," Quern told Copley News Service.

"Since it is a review of the department's operations we will certainly talk to Madden," Quern said. "But it will deal only with the internal problems of the department, since he is the internal auditor."

Since his other problem (job suspension) has been in the courts, Quern said, that will not be discussed. "That is between Madden and the director."

Initial work on the query is already under way. Quern said, "and this is very complex since the department has some 32 boards" governing the issuance of state licenses from architects to water well-pump contractors.

"We certainly want to make sure everything in the operations has been going as well as they should," Quern said.

He could not give any indication as to how soon the management review would be completed.

Meanwhile, a major audit under the direction of Auditor General Robert Cronin is continuing. It was some preliminary reports of that audit which touched off the major controversy in the department.

MUSIC CLINIC PARTICIPANTS — This Granite City High School North choral group was one of 18 groups attending a choral clinic at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. NEWS ANALYSIS

Percy disappoints Illinoisans

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — If Chuck Percy has improved his political standing with Illinois voters in the year since his dramatic plea to be "free," it's not visible to the eye.

A year ago Percy was re-elected to the U.S. Senate, primarily because he made a pledge to change his ways.

"Believe me," the senator said in his famous television commercial, "I've gotten the message and you're right. Washington has gone overboard. But the truth is your priorities are my priorities, too — stop the waste, cut the spending, cut the taxes."

During his first two terms in the Senate Percy's strategy was to vote liberal enough to attract Democratic votes on election day and count on having a Democratic opponent who was unacceptable to Republicans.

His campaign strategy was successful, even though he angered many rank-and-file Republicans along the way with a liberal voting record.

If the senator has changed his voting habits since he got the "message" last year, he's not been given credit for it.

The American Conservative Union blasted him recently for being a free-wheeling big spender, even though Percy supposedly resisted attempts to bust the budget and voted for major tax cuts and reduced spending bills.

If he's succeeded in stopping any significant waste on cutting taxes, he hasn't earned that message back of Illinois. (He talks about ending free parking for government employees and making sure the government gets the benefit of half-fare airline coupons.)

In addition, the senator has come out with a qualified position in favor of ratification of SALT II, hardly a position which will put him in good graces with conservative Republicans who became angry with him on the Panama Canal issue.

Percy, of course, never promised to change his position on foreign policy issues.

He did pledge to concentrate more on budgetary matters, and pay less attention to the visible, philosophical issues.

If Percy has changed at all in the last year, it's in the sense he hasn't been grandstanding on the major issues. As a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, perhaps he would have been justified in seeking more attention than he did.

On the other hand, it's typical of senators to remove themselves from the spotlight after winning an election. Since they don't have to face the voters for another six years, they can afford to sit back and relax a bit.

But it wasn't just Percy's voting record which caused him some grief during the campaign.

There was a general attitude that Percy was out of touch with constituents, that he had not spent enough time listening to the problems in Illinois. When his opponent, Alex Seith, slammed him on the issue, it struck a responsive chord with many voters.

Republicans, in particular, are sensitive to the need for better communication with Percy for two reasons: First, the other senator, Adlai Stevenson, is a Democrat, and they're not particularly comfortable talking to him. Second, the late Everett Dirksen was a masterful politician, a senator who could relate to the rank-and-file in his home state while serving as the GOP leader in the Senate.

Percy recognized the problem, and on the day after his election, pledged to improve the communications with constituents.

PRISON INDUSTRIES

Lockups slow the output

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — Wherever else administrative services director Vince Toolen could have ordered his controversial $1,000 worth of office furniture, he would not have been able to get it made in Illinois prison workshops.

Though Illinois' Department of Corrections operates a prison industries program making furniture which is sold to other state agencies, extended lockups and deadlocks at the Stateville prison had left the program six to eight months behind schedule at the time Toolen ordered his furniture through a Springfield supply firm, according to Howard Skolnik, head of the prison industries program.

Prison industries does not manufacture items like the African mahogany desk which Toolen ordered for $1,024, but it does manufacture both wooden and metal desks, as well as chairs, cabinets and other office furnishings.

Once returned to Washington, he did beef up his staff by appointing specific employees to handle Illinois projects.

If he's improved his overall communications, though, it's not readily apparent. If Percy did indeed get the "message" last year, he was signing off on proposed orders where he could because of uncertainty when he could deliver.

Prison industries, like private suppliers, fall under the same restrictions set up by the state's fiscal pattern, he said. Items contracted for but not delivered or paid for by the end of the state's fiscal year, plus a brief grace period, lose the funds which would have paid for them, and it is then necessary to go to the Court of Claims to obtain payment after delivery.

The metal desks are manufactured at the Pontiac prison, but most of the other furniture is made at Stateville prison in Joliet. Stateville was locked up for an extended period early last year, and again for a shorter period when new caches of weapons were found there.

Such deadlock situations, Skolnik said, are his industries' equivalent of a strike in private industry.

"We have a strike potential in other businesses," he said, "only it's in a different form. When we have a lockup, workers are off the job, and production stops."

While workers are not paid during such periods, other expenses such as the cost of contractual civilian supervisors, continue.

While most strikes in private industry usually do low extended periods of negotiations as a contract deadline approaches, deadlocks in prisons usually are abrupt events erupting with little or no advance warning.

When Toolen ordered his office furnishings, Skolnik said, the Stateville deadlocks had left the prison industries program "six to eight months back-ordered," and he was signing off on proposed orders where he could because of uncertainty when he could deliver.

Prison industries, like private suppliers, fall under the same restrictions set up by the state's fiscal pattern, he said. Items contracted for but not delivered or paid for by the end of the state's fiscal year, plus a brief grace period, lose the funds which would have paid for them, and it is then necessary to go to the Court of Claims to obtain payment after delivery.

Textbooks to be increased

By MICK STRANGE

Madison School Board Member Donald Garrett expressed concern over lack of textbooks for Dunbar students, at the Thursday evening meeting of the Madison School Board.

Garrett said, "Some parents of our Dunbar students have approached me and are questioning why students do not have adequate science textbooks."

"I cannot understand how classes can go on for three months without textbooks or the administrators not knowing," Garrett said.

Superintendent John Palchiff informed the board that 12 more textbooks had been ordered and would be here within the next few days. He maintained that only 11 students do not have books.

Board Member Paul Bargiel commented that only one extra textbook did not seem adequate.

Board President Sam Dymas asked that 24 textbooks rather than 12 be ordered.

It was noted that no bids had been received to brick up the side of Dunbar Grade School from which several bricks are missing. The missing bricks give the building a "rundown look," board members believe.

Discussion showed that bricklayers are hard to find, but the board decided to check further to find a bricklayer to do the job.

Several contracts were awarded to low bidders for equipment for the new middle school (6th, 7th and 8th grades) now nearing completion, including: two vacuum cleaners from Dart

Research, $947; steamer-kettle from Southern Equipment Co., $7,439; an ice machine from Peerless Co. for $1,242; and two cash registers at $5,433 from the Clinton-Monroe Co.

The board also awarded a contract for a small tractor with numerous accessories to Collinsville Equipment Co. at a cost of $2,790.

A discussion was held on installing a telephone on a permanent basis in the nurse's station at the new middle school.

It was felt one phone could be used while the nurse is there, and taken out of use at the station when she is not there. The nurse is to be at the middle school one day a week.

There was some question as to the need for the phone, due to the fact that the room is linked to the main office by an intercommunications system; all that is needed is to press a button and the secretaries can call an ambulance or render other assistance, a board member commented.

In other business, the board authorized the construction of a traffic guard rail to protect a home where the road narrows on Farish Street.

The board voted unanimously to reject a letter of resignation of from Robert A. Prout, mathematics teacher and assistant football coach at Madison High School. In the Nov. 5 letter he asked to terminate his teaching contract effective Wednesday, Nov. 21.

Members of the board expressed the feeling that failure to finish the semester might be unfair to students and the district.

The board voted unanimously to ask county and state school officials to suspend Prout's teaching certificate.

Prout said, in part, "I find that teaching at the high school level is not helping me advance toward my career goals. My return to school as a student is foremost in my mind. I want to finish my master's program as soon as possible and this can only occur if I pursue the degree as a full time student."

This is his first year with the Madison district.

The board approved the school district's participation in helping the Salvation Army gather food for Christmas baskets. Each student will be asked to donate a can of food. A discussion was held on reducing the amount of insurance on Dunbar School and the Dunbar annex to the actual value of the buildings, rather than replacement value.

The change would amount to a premium saving of about $2,300 a year. A report will be given to the board at the next meeting as to the value of the buildings in question. It was noted that all the district's buildings combined are valued at over $12 million.

The board approved a Madison High School class holding bi-weekly doughnut sales to raise money for the junior prom.

A request from the junior class to have a raffle was turned down. Board Member Bargiel said the students should be informed that raffles are against the law.

Other requests for fund raising by the junior class were tabled, pending further information.

and management, in a personalized, individual solicitation program this year," Boyer said. Solicitor training will be conducted at Granite City Steel.

Boyer added, "The unqualified endorsement of unions' and company leaders is embodied in their joint letter, which says, 'What better work can a person be involved in than that of helping people and doing it not because government requires it, but because in our community we care about each other.'"

Continuing, Boyer said, "Bob Gibson, AFL-CIO Illinois state president, stressing the importance of the United Way in America's society at the 1979 Tri-Cities area United Way kickoff, asked, 'What would we replace this voluntary giving and voluntary support for private voluntary agencies? We build to preserve a better society, and this is the only way to ensure the preservation of our society as we know it.'"

"The people at Granite City steel have a long and rich history of caring for others," Boyer told the Press-Record.

"We are in the forefront of voluntary community service and giving. Since the early '50s when our former thirty minutes per month giving concept was first inaugurated, we have been among the leaders."

"This year we must make an extra effort. We're talking about doing more through private philanthropy than before. Let's all join hands with each other and with the hundreds and thousands of people who have already made commitments to excellence in giving their fair share."

"If we are to be a community committed to excellence, we at Granite City Steel cannot do less than our best. We need more financial resources for services to children as well as adults, more services for the abused and ailing, and more services for those who are less fortunate than we who have jobs, homes, families and friends. "So much help is needed," Boyer concluded, "that we have only begun to scratch the surface of human need. The potential through United Way contributions and services."

The Granite City Steel employee campaign opened on Nov. 18. Solicitations are expected to be concluded before the end of this month.

what is in print form and what is on microfilm."

Visually handicapped who find it difficult to read black print on a white background can switch the image to a white on black, the librarian pointed out.

"You don't even have to have enough vision to place an object in the proper reading position. If it is put in upside down, switches on the camera allow one to turn the image right side up on the monitor."

Supplementing this equipment is a Vari-Speech II, a tape recorder player which allows one to slow the cassette tape half the speed or to speed it up as much as two and a half times without distorting the tone.

"It allows the visually impaired to listen to notes from class lectures," Smith said, "and to play talking book cassettes from the Library of Congress which have a unique format."

The equipment is available "for just about anyone," Smith said. "If they are affiliated with the university, they can leave their identification card at the information desk on the first floor of the library, and a key to the room housing the equipment will be given to them."

"If unaffiliated with SIUE, we simply ask the user to leave some form of valid identification, which will be returned when the key is returned."

"Use of the equipment is free, and it is not necessary to make reservations in advance. It is first come, first served."

Earl Dotzauer, vice-president and controller of the First Granite City National Bank, is serving as chairman of the 1979 Tree of Lights campaign.

Capt. Trapp also announced that the deadline to apply for Christmas baskets Applications are available at the Salvation Army office. Families and individuals must apply in person between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A Public Aid payment receipt, wage check stub, medical card or similar document is acceptable.

Coping with inflation

There are ways to fight inflation at the grassroots level, according to Southern Illinois economist Robert J. Ellis Jr.

While people won't have much luck trying to stretch their dollars back to dollar size, they can squeeze a few more coins out of them, says Ellis.

Inflation — in the midst of what he believes is a genuine recession — is here to stay for a time and Ellis has these suggestions for fighting its effects:

— Be a rational consumer. Don't drive great distances to save a few cents on a grocery purchase. Take advantage of bargains, but look at the overall picture.

— Be aware of all the alternatives when it comes to purchases, investments, savings and other means of spending your money.

Invest in goods during inflation. Hobbies can be rewarding, as well as fun. The collecting mania can be particularly rewarding, especially if items like stamps and coins are your thing.

— Plan ahead whenever you're considering a vacation, a trip, or any other activity that is likely to involve a large expenditure. You could save up to 50 percent on the cost of a trip by making reservations and buying your tickets now.

— Buy durable, long-lasting items, especially when you're in the market for television sets, stereos, automobiles, or other expensive items.

— Give careful consideration to borrowing money. If inflation is your only concern borrow today and pay back tomorrow, for the money you are paying back in a few weeks, months and years ahead will have less buying power than. But, if unemployment looms in your future, think twice about a loan. You might not be able to repay it.

— Steer clear of gold and silver.

Though currently popular, they're shaky investments.

— Think before tying money up in long-term investments. The rate of return might be attractive, but withdrawing funds before maturity usually results in heavy penalties.

— Look carefully at job stability when considering a job or career change.

— Avoid spur-of-the-moment purchases. Impulsiveness can be expensive.

Ellis says real estate is still an excellent investment, but one that most people are not likely to indulge in during the months ahead.

"Even if you have 20 or 30 percent to put down, it appears highly unlikely you will be able to get a mortgage loan. The unavailability of money, high interest rates and usury laws in some states are combining to make the real estate picture a poor one right now," he said.

Real estate will continue to be an excellent investment in most cases for the few people who can get it.

CAHOKIA — Karen Macios stood aside from the celebration. Around her, yelling and screaming people jumped up and down and carried the trophy aloft. But Macios stopped and reflected.

The pretty blonde is the only senior on the Granite City South girls' volleyball team and is the captain. As the end of the season drew closer, Macios had hoped for it to continue for "just one more match" through the playoffs. She got her wish here Thursday night. She and her Warriorette teammates stunned highly-regarded East St. Louis Lincoln in a three-game set, winning the first game 20-12, losing the second 20-4 and winning the third in a thrilling 21-19 decision.

That was the reason for the celebration. "I don't know how we did it, I guess we just got fired up because we had to," said Macios. "I'm glad I got a chance to play one more time."

The win means that South will face Edwardsville tonight (Monday) in the first round of the Edwardsville Class AA Sectional Tournament in the Edwardsville High School gym. The first match will pit Collinsville against Wood River at 6:30 with the South-Edwardsville contest to follow.

Wood River advanced to the Sectional by ousting

Granite City North 20-7 and 20-0 in the finals of the North District Thursday. North finished with a 5-13 record.

Also Thursday, Madison's season came to an end when it was defeated by powerful Freeburg 20-11 and 20-8 in the Freeburg District semifinals. Madison finished at 17-6.

South clearly controlled the first game. Lincoln closed the wide gap of South's to 8-7 after the Warriors had taken a 8-3 lead. The Granite girls then tallied five straight from six of Macios' serves.

South didn't play the second game — at least it wasn't the same South that had just beaten Lincoln in the opening contest. Lincoln completely took over momentum and took a 15-0 lead before South could muster a point. The Tigers won that game hands down to put the district final into the "rubber game."

"Our only hope was to break Lincoln and get the momentum going our way," commented South coach Wilma Shulze. "We did it."

The final game was long and suspenseful. Lincoln took a demanding 7-0 lead. Granite South called a time out. Then Lincoln increased its lead to 8-0.

South scored two points before the score went to a lopsided 12-2 in Lincoln's favor. All seemed to be doomed for the lady Warriors, but ... Granite served the last six points, "ONE MORE!"

One more point was all South needed. Macios' serve hit off of Bard Gilmore's hands and went into the bench area.

Edwardsville advanced to its own Sectional by beating host Highland 22-30 and 20-16 in the finals at Highland. Collinsville, considered to be the top Class AA team in the area, advanced by ending Belleville Althoff's 30-match winning streak.

South scored again and Lincoln called another time out, 20-19. South.

EDWARDSVILLE — SUE goalie Ed Gettemeier knelt next to the goal. He faced back and forth behind it like a nervous animal. With 1:51 left in the game, the pressure was on.

St. Louis University's Steve Sullivan was about to take a penalty kick against Gettemeier in the two teams' NCAA Midwest Regional semifinal game with SUE leading 2-1. Gettemeier thought to himself, would Sullivan go right with the kick or left? He guessed left. He was right.

But it didn't matter. Sullivan's kick sailed harmlessly about three feet wide to the left of the diving Gettemeier. SUE held on to win 2-1.

The winning goal was scored by cougar Don Ebert on a penalty kick with 4:23 left in the game. The victory means that SUE's Cougars will face top-seeded Southern Methodist University next Saturday in Dallas for the championship of the regional.

"I figured he (Sullivan) would go left with it, since he went to the right with his penalty kick against us in the 'Boot game,'" said Gettemeier. "I was right, but it didn't make any difference. It was a game the Cougars first deserved to win, then deserved to lose and finally deserved to win.

SUE dominated the first half, but couldn't find the goal. Even though the Cougars outshot SLU 16-10 in the first half, none found the inside of the goal. But persistence paid off.

At the 57:29 mark of the second half, after several minutes of three feet wide to the left of the diving Gettemeier, SUE's Tim Guelker got the first goal of the game.

The goal came from about five feet out as Guelker took a pass from teammate Don Ebert and shot the ball past Billiken goalie Dale Smith. The near-capacity crowd of 6,450 roared its approval as Guelker stood triumphantly over Smith.

The goal by SUE after St. Louis had so dominated the early part of the half could have been back-breaking for the Bills, but it wasn't.

SLU's John Hayes headed the ball past Gettemeier less than six minutes later to tie the score. The assist went to Sullivan.

Then came the winning goal. With less than five minutes remaining, St. Louis's Dan Kustera was called for committing a hand-ball infraction in the direct penalty kick area in front of Smith as he blocked a shot by Ebert. A penalty kick was called for.

Ebert lined up the ball and shot it past Smith to the upper right-hand corner of the net, giving SUE the lead.

"When you've been playing (soccer) for over 10 years, you ought to be able to make a penalty kick," said Ebert of the pressure he felt. But the game was just too important to stay that way. Try as the Cougars did, they couldn't keep the pressure off Gettemeier. With 1:51 Kustera, drilled a shot that hit Cougar Terry Trushel on the right arm. Another hand-ball in the penalty area. Another penalty kick.

After Sullivan's miss, Ebert first rejoiced, then consoled Sullivan, a close friend. "I thought Steve would make it," said Ebert. "I couldn't even watch it. I just stared away at the ground. Then I heard the crowd yell and saw Ed jumping up and down."

"It's a tough way for his season to end," Ebert said. "I know how he feels. But I guess it's better than that."

The game against SMU next Saturday in Dallas will be a rematch between two teams which battled to a 1-1 tie two weeks ago in Edwardsville. The game was marred by a near free-for-all and the ejection of an SUE player.

Deterding optimistic

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South boys' basketball coach Don Deterding isn't one to dwell much on the past. He looks to the future.

But Friday night, Deterding couldn't help but think of last season when he watched his current crop perform at the Red-White intra-squad game at Memorial Gym before about 200 fans.

The varsity "Whites" clobbered the second-string "Reds" 73-23. That wasn't unexpected. Deterding is hoping to continue the rebuilding he began last season when the Warriors finished with an 18-8 record, the best at South in seven years. Deterding lost only two starters from that squad — lettermen Jeff Parker and Jeff Treiter. He thinks Parker will be the hardest to replace.

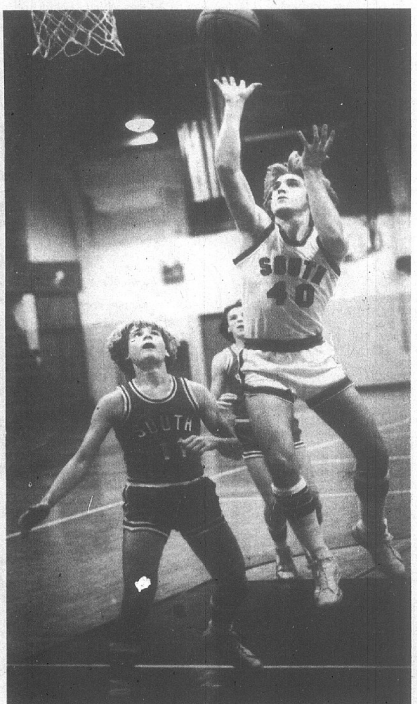

"We're lacking someone who can handle the ball well for us," he said. "Our size will help. We will start a 6-5, 6-4, 6-3, 5-11 lineup probably most of the time. But we're lacking in two areas."

"Ball-handling and quickness."

Perhaps South's biggest asset — as was the case last season — will be its defense. That was shown Friday night as the Warrior Whites continually swarmed to the ball and forced countless turnovers.

Deterding was an all-stater for Collinsville High in the late 1950's. Did he learn his defense from legends like Kahok coach Vergil Fletcher's "ball press?"

"Not really," said Deterding. "Our defense isn't like Collinsville's because we drop back and protect the middle more than they do."

KEVIN GREENE (40) is one of Granite South's starters for the coming basketball season. Here, he drives against teammate Joe Schneke in Friday night's Red-White intra-squad game at Memorial Gym.

Whatever it is, it works. The Warriors last season were known as one of the toughest defensive teams in south-western Illinois. This season should be no exception.

Deterding said he was pleased with the progress of his team, considering it has had but two weeks of actual practice (IHSAA rules prohibit basketball practice from beginning until Nov. 1).

"We're developing as a team well," he said. "We have to be. We open a week from tonight."

South begins its season next Friday (Nov. 23) against Mount Vernon in the Mount Vernon Thanksgiving Classic at 7:30 p.m.

As far as the race in the new Gateway East Conference is concerned, Deterding didn't hesitate. "Cahokia," he said matter-of-factly. "They have to be the favorite."

Then he grinned at assistant coach Mike Harmon. "But dang it, I think we can win it."

Althoff bows in playoffs

BELLEVILLE — The Cinderella team of the IHSAA Class 4A football playoffs finally saw its dream of a state championship turn into a pumpkin here Saturday afternoon. Belleville Althoff, champion of the Gateway East Conference, was edged by top-ranked LaSalle Peru 14-7 at Township Stadium in the state semifinals.

The victory for LaSalle Peru (12-0) means that it will face Wheaton North next Saturday, Nov. 24, in the state championship game at Illinois State University's Hancock Stadium.

But it wasn't as if Althoff didn't go down swinging. Althoff's Crusaders struck first in the game and had a chance to tie it late. But fate was on the side of the Cavaliers.

Althoff took the lead at 7-0 after the first quarter on Keith Chambers' nine-yard run with 2:12 left. Jeff McLean added the extra point. The key play in the 64-yard, seven play drive was a 30-yard pass from quarterback Matt Hardin to Bob Toich.

But LaSalle Peru came back. The Cavaliers scored with 3:19 left until halftime on a 36-yard pass from Jim Pistono to Darin Delaney. The two-point conversion try failed. The score was set up when Cavalier defensive back Randy Freschi intercepted a Hardin pass at Althoff's 49 yard line. LaSalle scored the winning touchdown with 2:05 left in the third quarter. Camillo Valle rambled 26 yards and scored the two-point conversion.

The Crusaders had three good scoring chances in the fourth quarter, including possession on the LaSalle Peru 29 yard line midway through the period. But the Cavaliers' defense rose to the occasion each time.

Althoff ended its season with an 8-4 record.

Cage Steelers hope to emphasize strength

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — North's basketball coach Bill Ohlendorf's philosophy: emphasize your strength and minimize your weaknesses.

For Ohlendorf's Steelers this year, that means run and press, and force the opponent outside.

North will rely on team speed and quickness to make up for the lack of any giant backboard-sweeping front court men.

"There's only one hitch to this philosophy. 'Of course, everyone else will be trying to do the same thing,'" Ohlendorf said.

How well the policy pays off will be determined by how well the Steelers can implement the idea.

The most serious obstacle for North will be compensating for its obvious lack of height. "We just don't have any really big people," Ohlendorf said. Our biggest is 6-2. If we had someone towering, we'd be pretty decent."

On the other side of the North ledger, however, some equally obvious factors are present.

Although the Steelers lost three of their starters from last season, the gaps are likely to be less than crippling.

Russ Chappell, Greg Leumann, and Tom Greco graduated last year, leaving the spots open.

But Ohlendorf has five candidates among which to pick for the positions.

Bob Batey, Mike York, Greg Faulkner, Keith Burton, and Kevin Cripps all saw considerable playing time last year, and Ohlendorf expects to find his starters, as well as bench players from among them this year.

The real strength of the team last year were Dennis

Page and Mike Robertson. The pair led North's scoring effort a year ago. Page averaged about 20 points per game.

Ohlendorf expects much the same this season. "All these guys are seniors," he said. "They were all with us last year, and they all have quite a bit of playing time. Experience is probably our biggest asset."

Along with the seniors two juniors are also expected to play some for North. Rick Takmanian, who saw limited action last year, will be joined by Pat Mushill to fill out the squad.

Despite a 5-20 record last year, the Steelers and Ohlendorf plan no new slants to the way they approach the game. "I've been doing this for 19 years now," Ohlendorf said. "And I've had some success, so I don't see any reason to start changing things now."

If the Steelers can't match up with many opponents in height, they can force the bigger teams into uncontrollable situations.

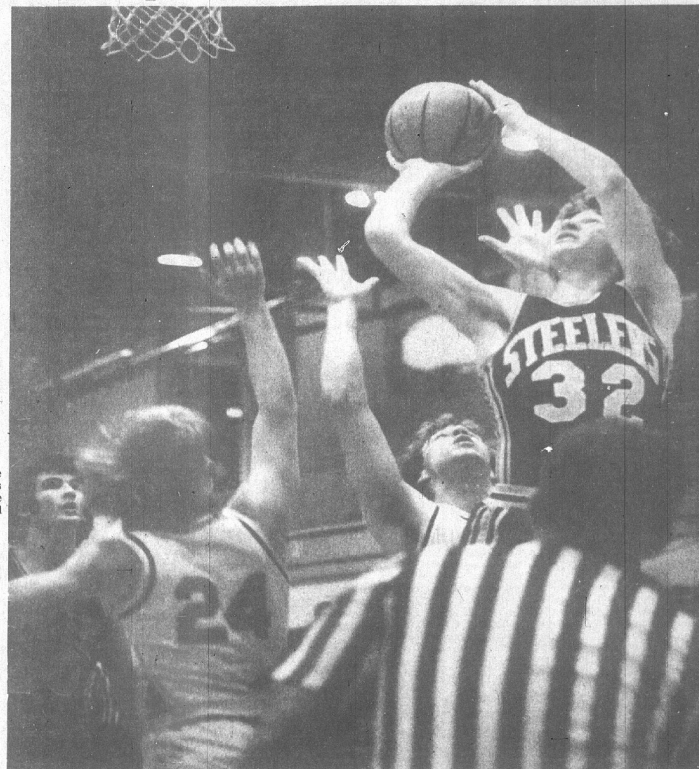

"We'll press and run a lot," Ohlendorf said. "We'll play a compact type of defense and try to force the other team outside."

Most of North's opponents this year are the same as the ones who were on the Steeler schedule last season.

One change will be additional games against Gateway East Conference opponents, Granite City South, Edwardsville, Cahokia, and Alhouth.

"Cahokia is probably the slight favorite," Ohlendorf said. "South and Edwardsville are expected to have pretty strong teams, and Alhouth and we are about even."

The Steelers have less than two weeks to prepare for their opening game. North will travel to Wood River, Nov. 30 to face the Oilers.

MIKE ROBERTSON (with ball) is a returning starter for Granite City North's basketball Steelers this season. He and his Steeler teammates will begin their season Nov. 30 at Wood River.

Baker, ISU finish

MIKE BAKER

BLOOMINGTON — Despite the failure of Illinois State University's cross country team to make an anticipated trip to the NCAA national meet, Coach John Coughlan can still smile.

"I can take solace in the fact that our program is getting better and better and we are young," Coughlan said. "The season was a real positive thing for our program and yet really disappointing for our team because we wanted to finish in the top 20 in the nation."

ISU was rated as high as No. 15 in the country by Harrier Magazine as well as being tabbed one of the top three independents.

The Redbirds also finished with a 7-9 dual meet record, a third place at the Central Collegiate, a second place at the Notre Dame Invitational and a first-ever No. 1 ranking in the state with a victory at the Illinois Intercollegiate.

Coughlan considers winning the state championship with six Illinois high school products a high point for the season. "That and having a chance to run well and show our talent week in and week out. We were excellent in winning at times and were able to dominate some pretty doggone good people."

Coughlan credited his top four — Dave Irion of Normal, Mike Baker of Granite City (North), Herman Sahneyah of Tulsa City, Ariz., and Mike Matteson of Aurora (West) — as having "superb" efforts.

ISU defeated all but quarterback Kris Jenner to pull off a comeback, but did have to prevent one by Elgin-Larkin.

Leading 21-8 late in the game, Flyers' running back Darryl Dixon fumbled at his own four-yard line. It didn't take Elgin long. Two plays later, Don Haas scooted over from the four. With the extra point, presto! — a new ball game.

East St. Louis led only 14-8 with six minutes to play, but Kerry Glenn caught a pass from Flyer quarterback Alvin Jones with 5:32 left for what was eventually the winning touchdown.

East St. Louis is the champion of the Southwestern Conference, while Mascoutah is the Mississippi Valley champ.

CHARLESTON — Two area prep football teams advanced to the championship games of their respective classes Saturday.

Mascoutah got some 11th-hour heroics from all-state quarterback Kris Jenner to upend Charleston 21-15 in a Class 3A semifinal game, while top-ranked 5A East St. Louis held on to beat a tough Elgin-Larkin team by the same score at Parsons's Field in East St. Louis.

The victories mean that Mascoutah (12-0) will face Morris (12-0) in the state championship game in Hancock Stadium at Illinois State University in Normal Friday, Nov. 23 at 7:50 p.m. and East St. Louis (12-0) will face St. Laurence (11-1) Saturday in the Class 5A title contest.

Things looked bleak for Mascoutah late against Charleston. The Trojans had taken a 15-14 lead in the third quarter on an eight-yard run by Gary Huffman and the point-after. It stayed that way until 4:10 remained in the game.

That's when Mascoutah Indian Dave Robinson recovered a Charleston fumble at the Trojans' 43 yard line to give his team one last gasp.

On a third-and-10 situation, Jenner spotted receiver Clayton McCants open at the Charleston 30 and completed the pass to keep the drive alive. Finally, with 2:13 remaining, Jenner scored on a one-yard run. Mike McMonigle's PAT completed the scoring.

East St. Louis didn't have to pull off a comeback, but did have to prevent one by Elgin-Larkin.

Leading 21-8 late in the game, Flyers' running back Darryl Dixon fumbled at his own four-yard line. It didn't take Elgin long. Two plays later, Don Haas scooted over from the four. With the extra point, presto! — a new ball game.

East St. Louis led only 14-8 with six minutes to play, but Kerry Glenn caught a pass from Flyer quarterback Alvin Jones with 5:32 left for what was eventually the winning touchdown.

East St. Louis is the champion of the Southwestern Conference, while Mascoutah is the Mississippi Valley champ.

CHARLESTON — Two area prep football teams advanced to the championship games of their respective classes Saturday.

Mascoutah got some 11th-hour heroics from all-state quarterback Kris Jenner to upend Charleston 21-15 in a Class 3A semifinal game, while top-ranked 5A East St. Louis held on to beat a tough Elgin-Larkin team by the same score at Parsons's Field in East St. Louis.

The victories mean that Mascoutah (12-0) will face Morris (12-0) in the state championship game in Hancock Stadium at Illinois State University in Normal Friday, Nov. 23 at 7:50 p.m. and East St. Louis (12-0) will face St. Laurence (11-1) Saturday in the Class 5A title contest.

Things looked bleak for Mascoutah late against Charleston. The Trojans had taken a 15-14 lead in the third quarter on an eight-yard run by Gary Huffman and the point-after. It stayed that way until 4:10 remained in the game.

That's when Mascoutah Indian Dave Robinson recovered a Charleston fumble at the Trojans' 43 yard line to give his team one last gasp.

On a third-and-10 situation, Jenner spotted receiver Clayton McCants open at the Charleston 30 and completed the pass to keep the drive alive. Finally, with 2:13 remaining, Jenner scored on a one-yard run. Mike McMonigle's PAT completed the scoring.

'Smitty' begins 30th season

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It's called the wrestling room. It's warm and musty there beneath the low ceiling, where the padded walls and floor provide a feeling of comfort and security.

It's where the Granite City South wrestling team practices.

It's coach Bill "Red" Schmitt's element.

For the past 30 years, Schmitt has spent his late fall evenings grooming the Warrior wrestlers for the upcoming seasons.

This year, like every year, the lean little Schmitt can be found there, watching, down on the mat demonstrating a new move to a young wrestler, reviewing past demonstrations in his unhurried, low-key manner of speech.

Each year, he repeats the process. Each year, he starts with wrestlers unproven at the varsity level, and at the end of each year he sends several to the state tournament.

"It always takes a certain length of time to get going," Schmitt said. "The preparation is the toughest part, but it's like that in every sport."

"Once the competition gets underway, it gets more interesting."

This year, the period of time spent in preparation for the Warriors' opening match Nov. 30 against Edwardsville, might be especially tough for Schmitt.

Half of South's 1978-79 regular 12 wrestlers graduated this past spring, leaving the Warriors with plenty of weight classes but few tested wrestlers to fill them.

"It's easy to take 12 guys and put them together and call them a team," Schmitt said. "But we work for balance and outstanding wrestlers scattered over all the weight classes.

To get to that goal from where the Warriors are now, Schmitt and his wrestlers will have to fill the open classes from the ranks of the untested.

Gone are Sam Perkins, a runner-up in the 138-pound division of last year's state tournament; Barry Forshee, a state place winner in the 126-pound division; 119-pound Randy Lupardus; 185-pound Dan King; 112-pound Scott Clement; and heavyweight Mark Siebert.

But if six wrestlers departed, six others remain. Unfortunately, that too will present South with a problem.

Those six starters from last season will not step back into their 1978 positions. Changes have occurred, and the various weight classes will have to be filled differently.

Rick Presswood, last year the 96-pound South wrestler, is no longer 96 pounds. He will have to compete in a heavier class this year.

Greg Garland is back and Schmitt says he will compete in the 112-pound class.

In the middle-weight divisions, the returning Lupardus brothers, Rod and Randy, will fill two of the classes.

Jim Frangoulis will wrestle in either the 167- or 185-pound division.

Scott Polson will fill another one of the upper weights, but at 13 pounds over last year's weight, probably not 185.

South's heavyweight will be Mike Monahan.

Additional concern for the Warriors is presented in the concaves of two wrestlers — Dean Perkins and Phil Beljanski.

Beljanski, just completing the South soccer season, suffered a broken nose last year, and has been recovering since. The problem will probably force Beljanski to adopt a protective mask this year.

Perkins, the state freestyle camp last year and the IHSA state third place finisher, suffered what might be a fractured wrist, last week in practice.

"It certainly would be a big loss if turns out to be broken," Schmitt said. "He's potentially our star performer."

Perkins will find out today, the extent of damage to the wrist. If it is fractured, he could miss up to six weeks of the season.

So Schmitt will be busy in the next week filling in and finding out.

It will be the 30th consecutive year he has done so. "It's tough to get going sometimes," he said. "But each year there's new challenges and new kids with different personalities. Once you get going everything seems to work out."

WOODROME OLDSMOBILE'S PLAYER OF THE WEEK

GRANITE SOUTH — 1979 STATE SOCCER CHAMPIONS

A truly amazing triumph

PALATINE — When a team no matter what sport — strives an entire season to reach the goal of a state tournament, there are many heroes — many athletes who at one time or another have contributed to their team's success.

That's even more true when the team reaches the ultimate goal of a state championship.

And that's how it was with the 1979 Granite City South Warrior soccer team. There were many heroes who helped out along the way.

For that reason, the entire 1979 South soccer team has been chosen as this week's "Player of the Week," sponsored by Woodrome Oldsmobile.

There were simply too many young athletes who performed well to single out just one.

It's probably just as well that the entire team has been chosen. This year's state championship team — unlike the last three straight from South — was not dominated by any one single player or aspect of the game of soccer. It was a team effort from opening kick-off to the final gun at the state tournament at Palatine

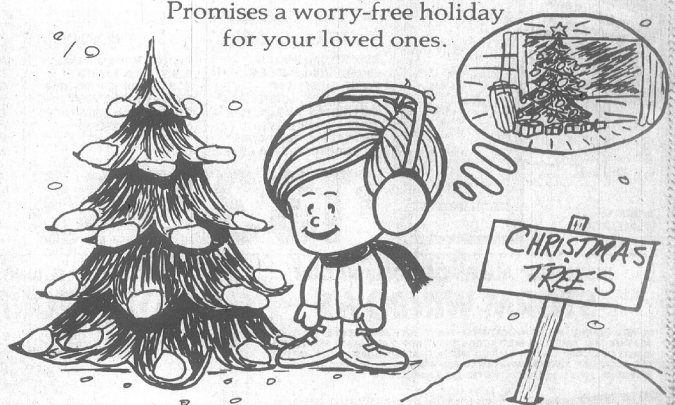

High last week.

A tip of the hat should go to South coach Gene Baker and his assistant Mel Bunting.

Miss Epperson weds Marion D. Shands

Assorted fall flowers decorated the altar at Sacred Heart Catholic Church as Miss Mary Jean Epperson and Marion D. Shands exchanged wedding vows.

Father Seamus Shortell performed the double ring candlelight ceremony on Sept. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Epperson, 2839 Washington Ave., are the parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shands, 129 E. Chain of Rocks Road.

For her wedding, the former Miss Epperson selected a gown in an ivory hue which featured a lace and seed pearl inset at the bodice.

Silk Venise lace trimmed the long tapered sleeves and the high neckline. The skirt fell into a waltz train. The bride wore a silk Venise Juliet cap to secure her fingertip veil and blusher. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses with baby breath and greenery. Matron of honor was Mrs. Christy Hoff, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carol Epperson, a sister-in-law of the bride, Connie Koesterer and Diane Griffin.

They wore silks gowns of apricot print with blouson bodices and capelet sleeves. Junior bridesmaid Jenna Epperson, a niece of the bride, wore an apricot gown with printed bodice and A-line skirt.

Film Wednesday at City Temple

Marriage and divorce, is the topic of "All the King's Horses," a feature film released by Mark IV Pictures of Des Moines, Iowa. It will be shown at City Temple Assembly of God on Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7 p.m.

The Rev. A. E. Cope announces the film shows effects that a broken home has on everyone involved. The writers of the script, Donald W. Thompson and Russell S. Doughten, Jr., felt unequal to the task of such a production until a true story was brought to their attention, the host pastor added.

Captain and Mrs. Branz, who are presently stationed at Fort Benning, will move to Ann Arbor, Mich., in January.

Advice for turkey day

William L. Kempiners, acting director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, has issued advice to help Illinois residents avoid food-borne illness resulting from eating improperly prepared Thanksgiving turkeys.

Kempiners said a frozen turkey should be thawed in the refrigerator, or in some way that will keep the surface temperature of the bird lower than 45 degrees F (7 C). Microwave oven users should follow manufacturer's thawing instructions.

When the turkey is cooked, the thickest part of the meat or stuffing should reach 165 F (76 C). After it is cooked, it should be kept in a heated oven until it is eaten.

Leftovers should be refrigerated immediately. They should be served either within two days or very hot, simple safety rule, Kempiners said, "is to keep food hot or cold, or don't keep it."

Auxiliary hears Vergia Franklin

The annual membership party for members of Venice-Madison Unit 307, American Legion Auxiliary was held last week at the Post home in Venice. A potluck dinner was held with about 40 attending.

The program was presided over by Mrs. Loretta Zeigler, president. Four guests from American Legion Post 307 were present and spoke briefly. They were, Sam Mangi, commander; Kenneth Hinson, adjutant; and two executive board members, Benny Mang and Jack Tolliver.

Another special guest was Mrs. Mary Massmann, president of Madison-Bond County Council Auxiliary. Mrs. Massmann is a life member and a past president of Unit 307. She now lives in Highland.

Vergia Franklin, Illini Girl Stater from Madison was another special guest. Vergia gave a report of her week at MacMurray College in Jacksonville last June. This is a government program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary where the girls study all phases of city, county and state government.

Vergia was elected mayor of her Illini Girl State city. Accompanying Vergia was her mother, Mrs. Theresa Franklin, who is a member of Henry Mitchell Unit 799. Mrs. Virginia Egan of East St. Louis Unit 53 was also a guest. She is the 22nd District parliamentarian and has served as a staff advisor at Illini Girls State.

Mrs. Norma Hillmer, unit membership chairman, gave the membership report and noted the unit has two-thirds of its membership dues collected for 1980. The membership theme this year is gem-stones and jewels. The 22nd District gem-stone is golden beryl. The centerpiece for the main table contained many jewels and a large piece of golden beryl. Initiation of new members was conducted by the past presidents, for Mrs. JoAnn Mang, Mrs. Lil Mangi and Mrs. Norma Patterson.

Others introduced were, Gold Star Mother - Mrs. Anna Miskonski of Madison; Life members - Mary Massmann, Maude Lewis, Ruth Allen, and Dorothy Hinson; and seven unit past presidents - Mary Massmann, Dorothy Hinson, Grace Hormann, Frances Cowley, Mary Ballentine, Diana Scherrills and Norma Hillmer.

Following the program, games were enjoyed by all.

ENGAGED. A March 15 wedding is being planned by Miss Brenda Hamm, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamm of Granite City, and Allen Ray Swaycar of New Athens, Ill. The wedding will take place at St. John Lutheran Church.

Miss Hamm is bride-elect
The engagement of Miss Brenda Lynn Hamm and Allen Ray Swaycar is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamm, 2444 Kilarney Drive.
The wedding will be solemnized at St. John Lutheran Church.
The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Swaycar, 606 S. Jackson St., New Athens, Ill.
A March 15 wedding is being planned by the betrothed couple and their families.
Miss Hamm attended Granite City High School South. Her fiancé graduated from Freeburg High School in 1975. He is employed by his father at Ray Swaycar Amusements.

Hilltoppers donate funds
The Hilltoppers Club of St. John United Church of Christ met last week at the church for a luncheon meeting and agreed to donate funds to three separate groups.
Contributions of $50 each were sent to Hoyleton's Childrens Home and to the church, and a $25 donation was given to the Salvation Army.

Beta Nu planning Christmas events
Two events were held last week by the Beta Nu Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority of Madison. The annual fall brunch was held for members and rushees. Two rushees were present, Mrs. Peggy (Bill) Cowley and Mrs. Doreen (Paul) Hutchings. The tables were decorated in the fall theme with pumpkins, Indian corn and colored leaves. Refreshments were served to 33.
A business meeting was held in the home of Dorothy Hinson with President Frances Cowley presiding. Sergeant-at-Arms Dorothy Bergrath reported sending over 8,000 cancelled stamps to the Home for Retired Nuns in LaCrosse, Wis., last week. All members were asked to continue to save their cancelled stamps as this is one of the Sorority national projects.
Treasurer Norma Hillmer reported sending a donation for the Christmas decorations fund for the city of Madison.
Plans were discussed on making Christmas trays favors for the patients at the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville.
Following the business meeting, the pledge ceremony was held for two prospective members: Mrs. Peggy Cowley and Mrs. Doreen Hutchings. Refreshments were served to the pledges and 10 members.
The Rev. James Mory offered the opening prayer, led the pledge to the flag and group singing.
He also gave the devotions on Thanksgiving and gifts, noting small gifts usually are the ones which mean the most to the recipient.
It also was announced that cards had been sent to three sick members, and the group was invited to attend the Eagles dinner for senior citizens. A note of thanks was read from the young people of the church who expressed appreciation to the club for their help in making apple butter this fall.
The next meeting will be a Christmas pot luck dinner and the nominating committee will present a slate of officers for election, it was announced.
Rev. Mory closed the session with prayer followed by refreshments.

Granite City company opens a Canadian branch

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

U-Bahn Earth Homes, Inc., a firm founded and home based at 4008 Braden Ave., Granite City, has opened a Canadian company in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Gary C. Davis of Granite City, founder and president of U-Bahn Earth Homes, was made an honorary citizen of Winnipeg at Canada's first International Earth Sheltered Conference, held this fall at the Holiday Inn and the Winnipeg Convention Centre.

Davis received the honorary citizen award from Winnipeg Mayor William Norrie during the trade show and seminar.

Preparations toward the establishment of a Canadian branch of the local corporation have been taking place since February, Davis said.

Since then, ground has been broken for two subdivisions of earth sheltered homes within a 25-mile radius of Winnipeg.

Many of the homes will be of similar design and specifications as Davis' personal residence, a spacious earth home, located at 300 Harmony Drive, just a few hundred yards from the Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Since his house was formally opened to public inspection Oct. 30, 1977, more than 20,000 persons have toured the energy saving home.

Another open house is planned locally in the spring months, in conjunction with public displays at several other U-Bahn Earth Homes around the country, Davis said this week.

The firm has 300 earth homes now built or under construction in several states.

Seventeen such houses are scheduled for completion before Christmas at Lake St. Louis, a community which is located west of St. Louis off Interstate 70, Davis said.

"With the continuing energy crunch and little relief expected in that area for the future, interest in earth homes is continuing to escalate," the local man said.

Detailed presentations by Davis concerning construction costs and long range benefits are in demand at trade shows and builders' seminars.

Within a period of 24 hours, Davis recently found himself addressing a convention seminar of the Illinois Home Builders Association in Acapulco, Mexico.

Participants in the trade show in Canada.

"The difference between 90 degrees and less than 30 degrees in the space of a few hours can be quite a shock to the system," he commented.

Also since the U-Bahn Earth Home concept was developed here, the firm has marketed over 600 sets of plans for such houses of varying design and size.

Design plans range from the Crescendo, with a total of 4,231 square feet of living space, to the Southland, with 1,288 square footage.

The smaller house still includes three bedrooms, kitchen, utility room, dining room and family room.

"This is a forward-looking underground housing concept which embodies advantages that are immediate and compelling," Davis commented.

Earth Homes have high energy efficiency, low maintenance cost, maximum privacy and security, natural landscaping, and extraordinary quiet. And they are wind-proof, tornado proof and fireproof.

"With the use of a central atrium and the proper placement of windows, the home is sunny and cheerful."

"The extensive front facade allows natural light to infiltrate almost every room of an Earth Home," the builder said.

Such homes are not for primitivists; the Earth Home is urbane and comfortable to the point of being luxurious.

Amenities abound, such as an indoor swimming pool with a free-flowing waterfall and sunken bar.

Davis' house here, a huge and beautiful dwelling, costs an unbelievably low $300 a year to heat and air condition.

Davis' Canadian office is located at 1212 Richardson Building, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

President of the Canadian company is H. Ivan Berkowitz, a Harvard graduate who also is president of H. I. Marketing Services Ltd.

Dr. Raymond Sterling, director of the Minnesota Underground Space Center at the University of Minnesota, and winner of the Mappin Medal in Civil and Structural Engineering, was among the speakers at the Winnipeg conference.

Others included structural engineers and heating, waterproofing and plant science specialists from Canadian and American universities and companies.

Hundreds of families now believe that U-Bahn Earth Homes truly are the "homes of the 21st Century."

The main objectives of the series are to prepare the investigator to conduct scientific, thorough and systematic scene and telephone investigations into deaths which by law are under the jurisdiction of a medicolegal office, Gantner added.

Highlight of the course included the dissemination of investigative information to departmental forensic scientists to achieve a coordinated, efficient and complete death inquiry.

The program director noted the program was designed to increase the investigator's knowledge of scientific aspects of death investigation regarding medical causes of death.

Grim outlook in Iran is uniting Americans against that country and the many nations that are remaining silent War? Terrorism? Kidnapping? However one defines the government-backed capture of the staff members of the American embassy in the capital of Iran, the issue is grimly serious.

And even though no Quad-Cityans are directly involved, it is a local as well as world story. Ayatollah Khomeini, who brings to mind our founding fathers' warning against mixing church and government, has gotten every American's attention, to say the least.

Today's developments add to the concern as the crisis enters its 16th day. Three of the hostages were released and another ten are scheduled to be. But in an apparent "divide and conquer" attempt, those released are all women or blacks. And there are plans to put many of the remaining hostages on trial—for a taste of Islamic justice that already has proved itself to be both brutal and procedurally unfair.

All of this could be solved, the religious leader told representatives of the three U. S. television networks yesterday, if we release to Iran what we deposited and another receiving anti-cancer treatment in New York City. No matter what degree of despotism the shah might be guilty of, there is no way this nation can give in to such blackmail, as President Carter appropriately has made clear.

At this stage, there seems to be no reasonable way the United States can intervene militarily and still hope to save those in captivity. Whether with tanks or helicopters, such an effort in the middle of an antagonistic city of five million people would be well nigh impossible.

Timing is an important element in diplomacy and defense. One cannot help but recall Pres. Eisenhower's rapid moves to safeguard world and domestic tranquility, in which he landed troops within hours in Lebanon, when England invaded, and in Little Rock, Ark., when court orders on school procedures were ignored. And the former general was not trying to bring on war; he was dedicated to keeping the peace throughout his eight-year presidency, and he succeeded with the aid of his expertise on tactics and timing.

If we had moved to the Iran border within hours of the Embassy takeover, we might have found ourselves in a slightly better bargaining position. Sadly, we may yet have to use muscle if the "students"—how can Iranians afford to stay in school until they are 42?—begin killing some of the hostages.

Admittedly, there is no easy path for us to follow.

The leader of Egypt calls the leader of Iran a fanatic. There is no surefire way to deal with the situation, and there is value in showing the world a united front behind the federal administration.

Americans truly are united in their anger over what has happened, and over a trend that has seen five U. S. ambassadors assassinated overseas in the last 11 years.

What is unique in the present problem is that the foreign government itself has taken the side of those who attacked our embassy, instead of endeavoring to safeguard our diplomats. The ayatollah tries to justify this by saying that our delegation had been involved in spying and in issuing fake papers for Iranians trying to leave that country.

He obviously had many other ways of dealing with this, if it is true, but he may be using the issue to help hold together his own chaotic, failing regime. In any case, accusations are a very trying thing when they can be changed within minutes to trial convictions with little or no verifying testimony or evidence.

Perhaps the hostages interviewed on television had no choice but to parrot the attitude of their captors, that America is illegally harboring a criminal. But there were many aspects of their comments that recall the times when our imprisoned soldiers were put on display before cameras in North Vietnam and in North Korea.

If there is to be a relatively acceptable solution, the odds for it would appear to be better if our allies were to speak out forcefully. Not only our allies, but every other nation in the world ought to take a stand. Unfortunately, there has been much silence. And our good buddies in Moscow have been broadcasting such appeals to Iranians as "death to U. S. imperialism."

Two days after the takeover, the Soviet radio said, "Iran knows through bitter experience about the disgusting behavior of U. S. imperialists. In this respect, the anger of the Iranian nation and its youth is totally understandable and logical."

There has been much speculation about what Americans should do toward Iran when and if the last of the hostages has been freed. We think Congress and the State Department also are going to need to reassess their positions with many other countries as well.

MacArthur history still muddled

To the Editor:

The movie "MacArthur," shown on national television recently, has a scene with an almost local touch to it. In the famous landing where the general returned to the Philippines—true to his words, "I shall return"—the No. 13 landing craft was piloted by a friend of mine, Paul Barnett of House Springs, Mo.

For 35 years, the landing photo has been documented wrongly by leading magazines, war-related biographies, war news services and some newspapers.

The second-day landing at Tacloban, Leyte, was erroneously used as the first-day landing at Palo, Leyte, in photos and stories that were sent out.

My efforts in the past four years to correct this for the American public and the World War II GI, and to give credit to the men who actually made the historic landing, have not produced sufficient corrections.

The wrong story and photo were sent out coast-to-coast recently because the scene was identified wrongly by a high-ranking Philippine general and cabinet member whom I met in Virginia at dedication ceremonies. This identification added to the confusion.

The story and photo appeared in the St. Louis area, and my efforts to have them corrected still continue.

Many corrections are printed to clarify mistaken information, so the public can have a true account, and yet this famous photo of a world event still is muddled, awaiting adequate clarification.

News media are a public trust, dedicated to presenting news and events as accurately as possible, though not infallible. Whenever wrong information is given, there should be a follow-up story with the facts given, to assure credibility. To err is human; to do a corrective reprint is divine.

World bankers and their loans

By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY

As interest rates climb higher and the price of gold fluctuates wildly, some 6,000 of the world's leading bankers, financiers and interested observers gathered for an October conference in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. They came to the first annual meeting ever held in a Communist country by the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank.

Yugoslavia hoped by hosting this conference to persuade the world's top bankers to extend additional large loans to Yugoslavia. To impress the bankers, Yugoslavia completed a new international-class hotel just in time for the visitors to arrive. The government offered to put on a cocktail party anywhere, even at the Museum of Modern Art, at only $77 per person.

It is difficult to see how any trustworthy banker could consider Yugoslavia a good risk for a loan. Its inflation rate is nearly 30 percent. Its more than $4 billion trade deficit during the first eight months of this year is 56 percent higher than last year.

Before Yugoslavia can borrow any more money from the West, it will have to refinance its debt. It already owes to Western nations.

But hope springs eternal in the Communist mind when it comes to coming the West for more favors on a grand scale. Unfortunately, that hope has been justified time and time again.

World Bank credits or commitments to Yugoslavia already total $2.3 billion. The International Monetary Fund has loaned $569 million to Romania, and the World Bank has approved an additional $295 million to the same country. The International Monetary Fund has loaned $70.2 million to Vietnam, 20 percent above its quota.

Poland, Bulgaria and Romania have run up staggering hard-currency debts with private Western banks. The Communist counterpart of the International Monetary Fund, was unable to help. The Eastern-bloc International Investment Bank has itself borrowed nearly $2.5 billion in hard Western currencies, largely for development projects in the Soviet Union such as the Orenburg natural gas pipeline network.

In 1975 Poland was on the verge of defaulting on some Western debts, and the Soviet Union bailed it out.

But the USSR is putting so much of its gross national product into weapons, and has such a growing need for imported oil and Western technology, that its resources available to make good on its satellites' bad loans are very limited.

It was perhaps coincidental that the same week the World Bankers met in Belgrade, the Carter administration announced it will permit the Soviets to buy up to 25 million metric tons of wheat and corn this year, or about 10 percent of our production. The Russian Communist system, after more than 40 years of iron control, is still unable to grow enough grain to feed its own people and depends on the United States to provide food so the USSR can put its money, manpower and technology into weapons.

In the grain announcement, no mention was made about how the Russians will pay for the grain. In 1972 when the Soviets secretly bought 18 million metric tons of wheat and corn, the sale was financed by a combination of U.S.-guaranteed credits and U.S.-subsidized prices.

That controversial sale resulted in major food price increases in our country and led to the present requirement that the government give prior approval to purchases of more than $1 million tons in one year. The Carter administration did give that approval, but got no quid pro quo from the Soviets despite their desperate need for grain.

American grain is only one of the many trump cards the Carter administration could have played to solve the problem of Soviet combat troops in Cuba. Loans extended by the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, for which U.S. taxpayers put up a large part of the capital, are another.

But we do not have a President who has the courage to say no to the Kremlin. It's pretty clear that, on the troops-in-Cuba issue, it was Mr. Carter, not Brezhnev, who blinked.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

Thompson wins in showdown

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — If a visitor from overseas were to spend a day in the Illinois House he would probably head home with the impression that the state's governor and the mayor of its largest metropolitan city were about to be banished to Alaska.

As the fall veto session grinds on beyond what the weary lawmakers had expected, Republican Gov. James Thompson and Democratic Mayor Jane Byrne are daily targets of verbal abuse unmatched since Casey Stengel called Milwaukee a bush town.

Judging from the oratory, a stranger might well conclude that the governor and the mayor are the most incompetent officials ever to hold office in Illinois. But he wouldn't if he took pains to check the votes on specific issues. In almost every instance Thompson and Byrne are winning.

A good example of how the votes in the big electric scoreboard often defate the floor oratory occurred recently in another showdown between Thompson and the Legislature over who should have the big say in how Illinois spends its federal money.

Like legislators in a number of other states, Illinois lawmakers in recent years have been demanding that they be given authority to reappropriate the Washington money once it reaches Springfield.

Thompson has taken the stance of other governors that the federal funds reach Illinois already designated for specific purposes and that their distribution should be an executive responsibility with no action by the Legislature necessary.

During each of the last three years, the Legislature has passed bills that would give it authority to specifically appropriate federal money received with the exception of that earmarked for colleges and universities. For three years Thompson has vetoed these bills and efforts to override his veto have failed. This year's legislative gubernatorial tug-of-war followed a similar pattern.

The bill this year was introduced in the Senate last April with bipartisan sponsorship, Republicans David Regner of Mt. Prospect, and Roger Sommer of Morton and Democrats Kenneth Busbee of Carbondale and Howard Carroll of Chicago.

It moved through the Senate at a comparatively quick pace and passed on May 22 by a 54 to 0 vote. There are 59 members of the Senate.

In the House the legislation was handled by Rep. Donald Totten of Hoffman Estates, who has a reputation as a legislator in the forefront of efforts to limit state spending and taxes. By June 15 the bill had cleared the House via the non-controversial short debate calendar, winning final approval by a 156 to 1 vote.

Thompson, as expected, vetoed it, and the bill duty came back to the House. To override a governor's veto requires a three-fifths majority, 107 votes. With the measure having received 156 one might have thought that achieving the necessary votes for the override would be easy.

Not so. Whatever one might think of Big Jim as a governor, he is by no means a paper tiger. His forces went to work, and when the smoke had cleared the override motion had failed, receiving only 94 votes.

The vote came after a lengthy floor debate dominated by those in favor of expanding legislative power. About the only Republican speaking for the administration was Rep. Arthur Telcser of Chicago, an assistant GOP floor leader. Telcser's main argument was that to give the Legislature a direct voice in spending of federal funds would delay the payment of unemployment compensation. He also warned fellow lawmakers that reappropriation would mean a $1 billion increase in the state budget, and they would be blamed for it. This bill is strictly "flam," said Telcser. "It is completely unnecessary."

A major argument of legislators who desire a bigger legislative role with federal funds is that the federal funds provided to support initial programs are eventually withdrawn leaving the state to pick up the full tab in subsequent years. Totten accused the administration of coming up with "a new boogie as to why we should not be appropriating federal funds." He urged that the lawmakers "exercise our prerogative."

The question remains as to why so many legislators who were for the bill in June were leery of it in November. Sixty-two of them, in fact, voted against it.

YEAR OLD ARGUMENT

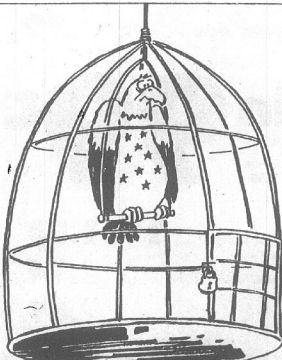

Daniel E. DeRousse, 18, of 3716 Johnson Road, was released at 6 p.m. Friday on $37 cash bond after allegedly striking another youth. DeRousse is also to pay for an $85 pair of glasses allegedly broken, when he struck the youth. The glasses are to be paid for within the next two weeks or DeRousse will be "charged with criminal damage to property. The incident happened Friday, in the Nameoki Village shopping center and is believed to stem from a year old argument that happened in school.

DAMAGE AT TAVERN

Granite City police are searching for a man who damaged the bar at Jacobsmeier's Tavern, 240 Edwards St., and then got into a fight with another patron. The man pulled two chrome fittings from the bar and threw them left. When the manager followed him outside, the man threatened to kill the manager, entered a car and backed from a parking space against the auto of Rich Womack of Washington Avenue before leaving south on August St.

Food allotments will rise

Low-income families will get a 2.5 percent cost-of-food increase in food stamps starting Jan. 1, Assistant secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman reports.

The January increase will be the smallest in two years because the rise in food prices has slowed in recent months," she said.

The increase reflects the rise in food costs between March and September 1979. By law, the U.S. Department of Agriculture adjusts food stamp allotments twice a year, on Jan. 1 and July 1. The adjustment varies with changes in the cost of economical foods used in the thrifty food plan.

On Jan. 1, the maximum monthly allotment for a family of four with no net income will increase from $204 to $209 in the District of Columbia and all states except Alaska and Hawaii.

Nearly all food stamp households will get less than this amount, though, because allotments are reduced if families have income. Currently, food stamp benefits average 37 cents per person per meal.

The maximum food stamp allotments for households of various sizes, effective Jan. 1, are as follows:

One-person household, $63.
Two-person household, $115.
Three-person household, $165.
Four-person household, $209.
Five-person household, $248.
Six-person household, $288.
Seven-person household, $329.
Eight-person household, $376.

For each additional member over eight, $47 per month is added.

The amount of food stamps an eligible household receives is determined by subtracting 30 percent of net income from the thrifty food plan amount for the appropriate size household. All such households get at least $10 each month.

SCREENINGS DUE

Blood pressure screenings will be given between 1 and 2 p.m. each Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center without charge. It was announced Friday. No registration is necessary. Anyone may take a screening at any time during the hour. Entryway is through the Reese Pharmacy entrance.

NO '7-ELEVEN STORE in Madison. Robert Windsor, an executive for the Southerland Company (7-Eleven), said construction of the store has been cancelled along with several others in the Midwest, as the company is expanding more on the West Coast. The building site, at 1858 Edwardsville Road, was opposed by several residents in the area and also opposed by the Madison Zoning Board. However the Madison City Council, by a 7-0 vote, with former Alderman Ronald Grzywacz and Alderman William Gushleff abstaining, overruled the zoning board and citizen protest and granted a building permit in September 1978. The vacant lot formerly had a laundromat on it.

Jarad Balmer, director of the Educational Therapy Center at Stallings School, spoke at the Thursday morning meeting of the Breakfast Kiwanis.

He discussed the program for behaviorally and emotionally disturbed students, described to be an average of 13 to 18 years old.

A unique aspect of the program at Stallings School, according to Balmer, is that counseling is provided for the students and parents. The program's goal is to place the student back into the regular school atmosphere.

Clifford Fore, lieutenant governor for area Kiwanis, was a guest. It was announced that members of the club will visit the O'Fallon club tonight.

How to read your utility meters

Your meter will have four or five dials. This example shows a five-dial electric meter. Read the dials from left to right. When the arrow is between two numbers, read the lower of the two.

On the first dial above, the arrow is between six and seven. The reading is 6.

Now move to the next dial to the right. (The needle on this dial runs counter-clockwise; that's the way the meter is geared.) The arrow here is between 3 and 4. The reading is 3.

On the third dial above, the arrow is between 5 and 6. The reading is 5.

The fourth dial also runs counter-clockwise. Here the arrow is past 9 and almost to 0. The reading is 9.

On the fifth dial, the arrow is between 3 and 4, so the reading is 3.

Your meter reading from left to right on the five dials is 63593. Make a note of the reading. When you read your meter again in, say, a month, it may read 64313, or 720 numbers more. That means you've used 720 kilowatt hours of electricity since you first read the meter.

Your gas meter reads the same but has only four dials and measures therms of gas. If your first reading is 6359 and your next reading is 6431, you've used 72 therms of gas since your first reading.

Reading your own meter from time to time enables you to check how much energy you're using and helps your family realize how wasteful habits can consume energy needlessly.

If you'd like further information about Illinois Power meters, please ask at our office.

Sanders has been a professional floral designer for almost three years. There are a couple of things to be said for florists' way of copying nature. One, there are no watering tasks or soil to deal with; two, these wonders of man don't fade away and die as winter approaches.

Workshops to help fight holiday blues

By SUE BORSTEIN
The holiday season is fast approaching. There are wishes of "Merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year." There is gift giving and the exchange of cards. Despite all these activities, there are those for whom the holiday season is a difficult one.

There are many reasons for this, as it is truly a time when emotions are many and varied. Sometimes the problem is made worse because we have to deal with so much all at once. It is a time which requires us to use our best skills to cope. Perhaps most importantly, it is good for us to recognize what is happening to us and why, and to plan for the season.

To help plan and cope with the holiday season, the Mental Health Clinic Quad-City Center will be offering one-session groups on "Beating the Holiday Blues."

These informational sessions on holiday depression will be held on Thursday, Nov. 29, from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, Granite City, and on Monday, Dec. 3, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 406 Hillsboro Ave., Edwardsville.

The cost for the groups is $3 and enrollment for either of the sessions can be made by calling the coordinator of community education at the Mental Health Clinic, 877-4420.

ABCs of song writing

By JACK WILLIAMS

HOLLYWOOD—A pair of songwriters who have sold their work by the ton, Al Kasha and Joel Hirschhorn carry a lot of weight on the musical scale.

They're experienced, talented, versatile and — perhaps most important of all — compatible.

For the last 14 years they have been a team, writing and composing at the rate of two or three songs per week, selling more than $2 million records, for singers as diverse as Elvis Presley, Sammy Davis Jr. and Helen Reddy.

Two of their efforts — "The Morning After" and "We May Never Love Like This Again" — have won Academy Awards for best song. Another, "Go Away Little Girl," was Steve Lawrence's best-selling hit.

They've scored films and commercials, too, and recently collaborated on a book, "If They Ask You, You Can Write a Song," which has been called "the definitive book on songwriting" by composer Marvin Hamlisch.

For one thing, it is one of the few books ever written on the subject. Songwriting usually is associated with talent. Talent cannot be taught.

But if there is inspiration and desire to write a song — if there is a will — there's a way, say Kasha, 41, and Hirschhorn, 40.

"One out of every six persons wants to be a songwriter," said Kasha. "It seems like a quick way for someone to express himself. A novel may be overwhelming to you, but music is an emotional experience. Something you feel inside. It soothes the savage beast."

"In writing this book we try to show some of the pitfalls you can get involved in. You must have some native talent but you also must have craft."

Kasha started to impart the fundamentals of songwriting seven years ago at UCLA.

"I spoke to a poetry class," he said. "I talked about song lyrics as compared with poetry, and the reaction was so good UCLA started the first accredited class in the country."

"Universities teach film, writing and art but they have ignored songwriting, which is one of the great moneymakers."

Kasha and Hirschhorn wrote their first song together in 1965, a forgettable ditty called "You're My Favorite Hobby." Their second effort, "Why Can't You Bring Me Home," recorded by Jay and the Americans, became a hit.

"We both write lyrics and music," said Kasha. "The first thing we do is think of titles. We'll throw out associated words, both of us with pad and pencil, and we'll doodle on piano and guitar. The title will dictate whether the song walks or jumps melodically."

Originally, the lyrics in "The Morning After" — from the movie, "The Poseidon Adventure" — were "Why must there be a morning after?" They later changed it to "There's got to be a morning after."

It was written specifically for the movie. "We stayed up all night to do it," said Hirschhorn. "We were bleary-eyed when we played it to the producer. We were told that subliminally it had to refer to a disaster but that it was a universal love story, a story of hope."

Often, said Hirschhorn, he and his partner write a melody or lyric in 10 or 15 minutes.

"Noel Coward says the best way to write is in a hurry. Others believe in considerable rewriting. Sometimes you have adequate rhymes to begin with, but if you give it time they will become more vivid. I think you should always be prepared to rewrite."

One guideline to which Kasha and Hirschhorn subscribe is simplicity and repetition.

"The words go by so quickly," said Kasha, "that they must be simple. Most poets have not made it as lyricists because their lyrics are too rich. Lyrics
